

Collaboration Agreement – TrainLog Project

This agreement is made between:

Project Owner: Antoine WAES

Collaborating Developer: Siddarth NANDURI

Date: 06/24/2025

Project Description

The project, called TrainLog, is a mobile application designed to help users track and visualize their past and upcoming train journeys, similar to the app named Flighty.

Terms of Collaboration

1. Non-Disclosure and Non-Copying

The Developer agrees not to reuse, copy, or redistribute any part of the codebase or assets shared with them during this collaboration for any purpose outside of this project. All shared code remains confidential.

2. Shared Ownership

All code, features, and contributions developed as part of this collaboration will be jointly owned by both parties. Neither party shall claim sole ownership of any part of the work completed under this agreement.

3. Non-Remunerated Contribution

This collaboration is voluntary and non-commercial at this stage. No financial compensation will be provided for the work carried out.

4. Future Commercial Discussions

If TrainLog becomes a paid application or generates any form of revenue in the future, both parties agree to re-evaluate and discuss fair compensation and ownership terms based on their individual contributions to the project.

By signing this document, both parties agree to the above terms in good faith and with mutual respect.
